

My Learning My Future

Where can studying English take you?

Introduction

At The Careers & Enterprise Company, our mission is to help every young person find their best next step.

My Learning, My Future is a suite of resources that has been developed by The Careers & Enterprise Company in partnership with Skills Builder to help you speak confidently about careers related to your subject.

This guide has been updated with new content to reflect the changing pathways and skills needed by employers.

Benchmark 4

Activity ideas

Create some 'buzz moments' in every lesson by highlighting relevant careers stories, or relating topics or essential skills from your subject to future opportunities.

Pathways

Take a look at a wide variety of resources that focus on the pathways a young person can follow to a career linked to the subject.

Careers in the curriculum

Discover resources and inspiration to link careers to the curriculum, employer engagement and extra-curricular opportunities.

Why study English?

Why study English?

This is your chance to share the passion you have for your subject. Here's five popular reasons teachers give as to why English should be in the school curriculum:

- Develops your analytical skills, searching for patterns and linking text, theories and historical events
- Learn to speak and write eloquently and develop self-expression
- English provides a gateway to all other subjects in the curriculum. If you can't read and write in English, you can't learn other subjects
- English helps us to develop our critical thinking and writing skills
- English develops your understanding of culture, how it has evolved and how it shapes life today

This section will connect you with key resources and links for students to explore opportunities related to your subject area with the aim of motivating and inspiring your students about the world of work and pathways to a career using English.

There are a number of examples of roles and activities to support your students to explore opportunities.

Why not encourage your students to become a teacher?

Teaching
Every Lesson Shapes a Life

As you know teaching is a career like no other, where your voice, passion, background and how you view the world is used to inspire young people.

Here are a couple of case studies to inspire you to share your story with your students. You might also then select one to share with your students.

- See case study: Shaniqua's story
- See case study: Daniel's story

Why teach?

Share these reasons for teaching with your students and frame them in your own words...you might start with the ones that enticed you into teaching yourself:

1. Helping shape young minds, help shape the future.

As a teacher you'll instil attitudes and beliefs that will help shape the next generation and the future. It's your chance to make an impact.

2. Turn your passion into a career.

If you love something, you'll love teaching it. There's nothing better than seeing people being inspired by the things you're passionate about.

3. The reward is always worth the challenge.

As a teacher you'll be challenged and rewarded every day. And nothing is more rewarding than knowing you've made a difference.

4. More time for what you love.

Teaching gives you more holiday than most careers, which means you have more time to explore your own interests.

5. Start on at least £25k, or £32k in inner London.

Where you take your career from there is up to you.

What makes a great teacher?

Here's what some Year 10 students think makes a great teacher – do your students agree?

What makes a great teacher?

Salary and benefits

The next generation of teachers will be entitled to a competitive salary, generous holidays, and a substantial pension.

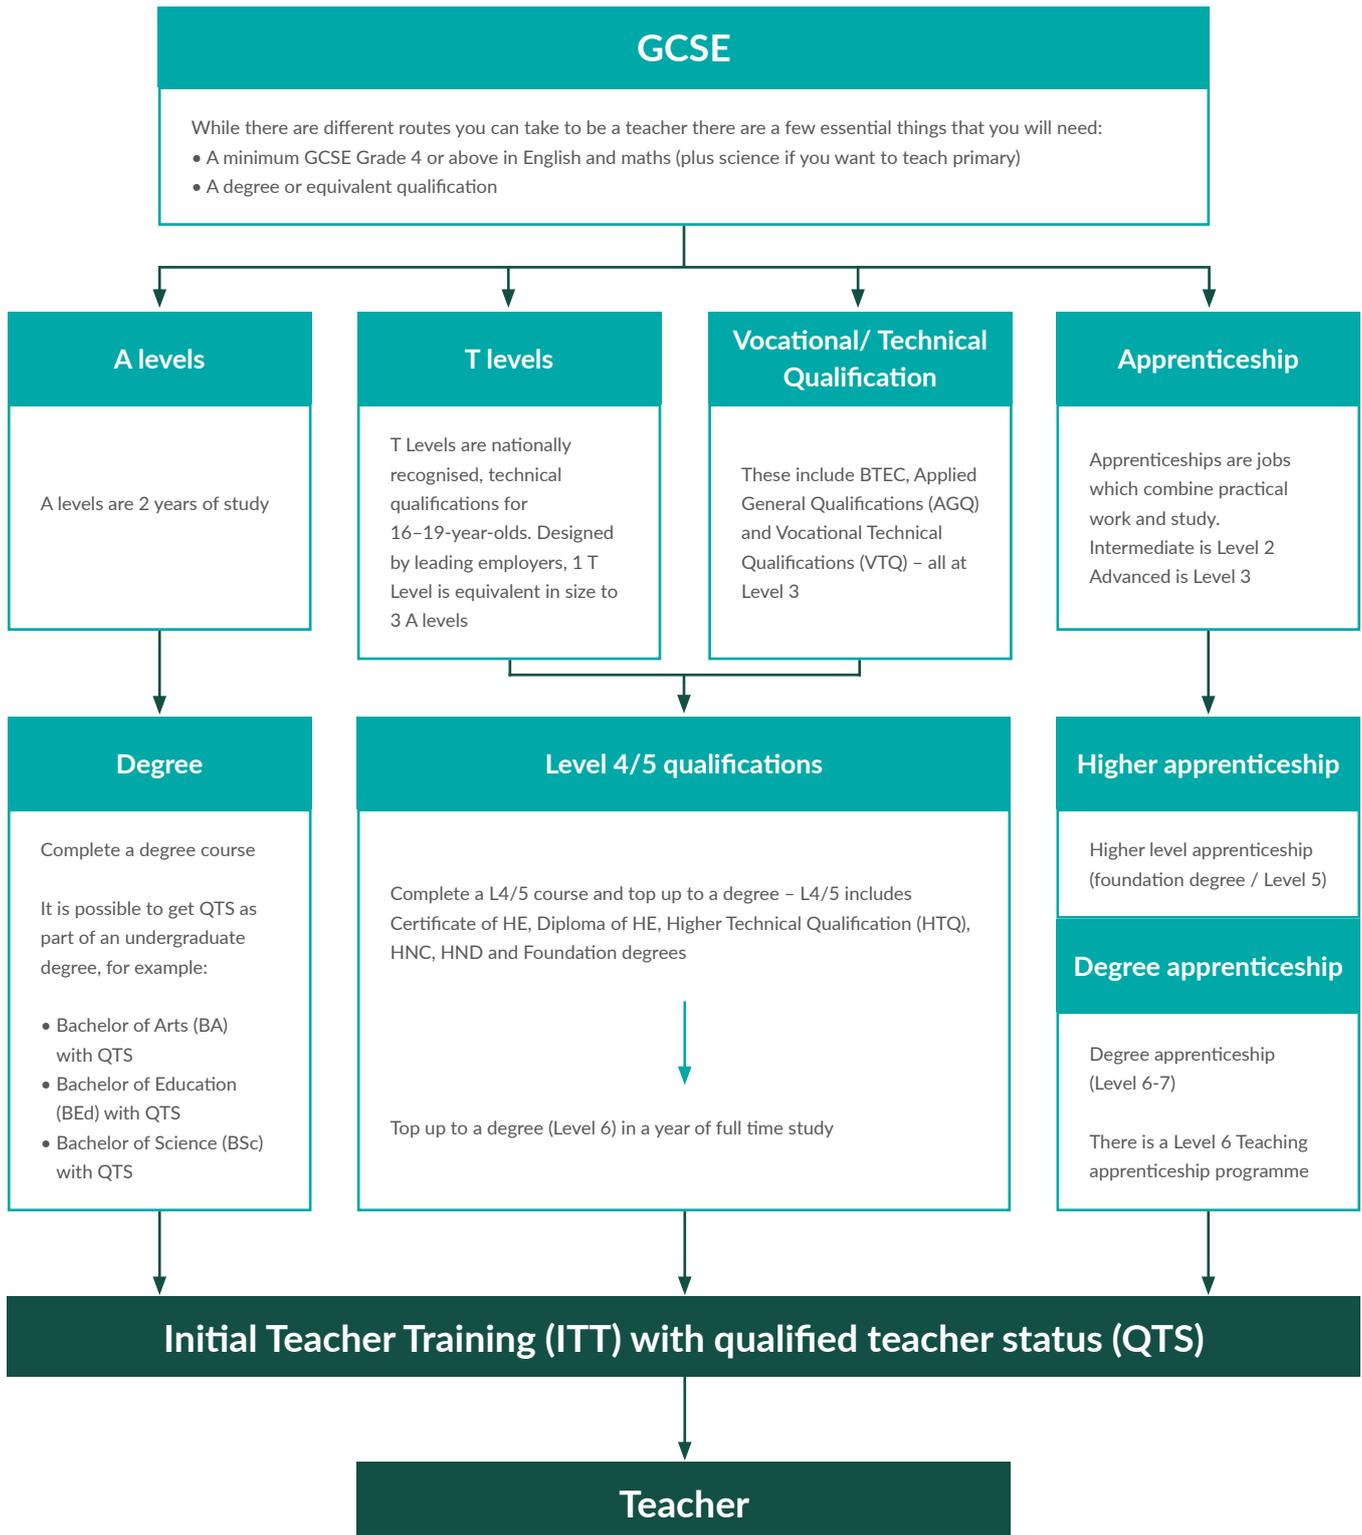

You'll get more days holiday than people in many other professions. In school, full-time teachers work 195 days per year.

For comparison, you'd work 227 days per year (on average) if you worked full time in an office.

Be mindful that when you share your route into teaching, you need to balance with the other options.

Here is an infographic resource to share with your students which shows the options and journey they could take.

Pathways

Pathways

Whether students know where they are headed to in the future or not, knowing the work and study choices available to them is a great place to start.

Get the Jump: Skills for Life is a campaign to help young people make their next step in education and training. It raises awareness and understanding of all the different education and training pathways open to young people at post-16 and post-18.

Many young people may feel confused or daunted by the post-16 or post-18 choices landscape and the campaign signposts students to further information around all potential options.

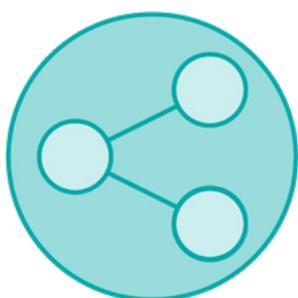

Here are two visual displays you may also find helpful:

Framework of Qualifications: This is a useful visual display which shows where different levels of qualifications sit with each other.

Careers in the curriculum

Careers in the curriculum

Young people critically need support to see and understand their future and ensuring that careers learning is delivered in all subjects has benefits clearly aligned to the priorities of schools and colleges and to positive outcomes for students. There are three different approaches to careers in the curriculum to consider:

1|

Highlight the relevance of your subject to future careers and opportunities.

2|

Set curriculum learning within the context of careers and the world of work.

3|

Deliver curriculum learning through employer encounters, experiences of work and/or extra-curricular opportunities.

Embed careers in curriculum teaching and learning

There are some excellent examples of how curriculum teaching can be put into the context of careers and the world of work. Here are some resources designed for your curriculum area.

Other Resources

- Find useful careers resources from FutureGoals related to English here
- Find an engaging subject English poster from Planit - "Shrink oversized pages" before you print to A4
- AET in partnership with Tesco's have designed curriculum resources for KS3/4 designed to engage and support students in learning by placing teaching points in the context of the world of work. The resources will also support students to recognise and demonstrate how the qualities and skills they are developing in your subject will help to make them employable. Careers in the Curriculum: KS3/4 National Curriculum resources
- This fully resourced unit of work developed by East Sussex Careers Hub (8 – 10 lessons) is designed for learners in Year 7-8 and explores the world of work through an English lens. The unit will engage students in a range of discussion, reading and writing activities, starting by looking at the world of work from a child's perspective and ending with an exploration of how the subject of English relates to careers and a visit from a speaker.

Extra-curricular Inspiration

Here is some inspiration to enhance student engagement in your subject:

- Loughborough University HE Unboxed \(English Creative Writing\): This box aims to inspire the creative writing process through use of objects as prompts and encourages students to relate this to texts they are currently studying by looking at how character possessions aid characterisation. Learners will pick from a random selection of items that have previously belonged to someone, or something, and answer questions to build the character who owned the object, before writing a short piece of creative writing
- Book Trust Author Visits
- BBC Young Reporter Resources
- National Literacy Trust Words for Life Challenges: Words for Life provides children aged 0-13 years with activities and support to improve their language, literacy and communication skills from home. Zone In has a range of resources for young people aged 13-24 to help them feel more confident.

*NB – there may be costs associated with some of these resources

Activity ideas

Create careers 'buzz moments' in every lesson

Young people experience 'buzz moments' when an idea hooks their attention and imagination.

Highlighting relevant careers stories, or relating topics or essential skills from your subject to future opportunities is easy to embed and can be really powerful. This should help support a culture that inspires young people about their future.

Here are some ideas to get you started:

- 1 | Encourage students to identify a job related to your subject that they will be doing in ten years' time and ask them to present the pathway they took to that role

- 2 | Encourage students to research local options at 16/18 in pathways related to your subject that interest them

- 3 | Encourage students to research and present on roles of interest

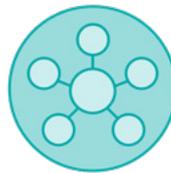

- 4 | Share your own careers story

- 5 | Spotlight non-obvious careers related to your subject

- 6 | Challenge self-limiting beliefs and stereotypes around your subject

- 7 | Know all the pathways from your subject

- 8 | Highlight essential soft skills linked to specific lessons and to your subject in general

Find all eight activities (and more) ready in the slide deck for you to use with your students here

Employer engagement

You may wish to invite someone from the world of work in to support you in highlighting the relevance of your subject to careers. Use the below guidance to help you.

Key Questions	Guidance
What are you looking to achieve? Try and be as clear and purposeful as possible when framing an 'ask' of employers.	What are the planned outcome(s)? i.e. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • For students and parents/carers to understand the relevance of your subject to careers • To encourage students to consider pursuing your subject to GCSE level • For students to have an insight into key labour market information
What benefits would there be to the employer for supporting?	For emotional reasons: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Personal connection, e.g. they have family at the school or a relative works at the school or college • History, e.g. they are an alumni of the school or college • Locality, a local employer wants to give something back to the local area For commercial reasons: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Skills shortages – to attract young people into their industry • To help change perceptions of certain industries • Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) positioning – being seen to give something back
How to engage an employer?	Speak to your Careers Leader to access contacts that already exist in the school. Try: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Staff networks (e.g. family, friends, Governors) • Student networks (parents, relatives) • Alumni network • Supply chains (IT, Catering, Maintenance) • If your school or college has an Enterprise Adviser, they may have wider employer links or suggestions • Social media appeal with a clear ask
Format	Articulate where, when and how the encounter will take place. Would you like someone to create a video/take part in a recorded Q&A or is this is a physical invitation into a lesson?
Recording and Evaluation	How will you evaluate the session and get a temperature check of value from students and the employer? Remember to communicate activity and student register to Careers Leader as this supports Gatsby Benchmark 4 and potentially 5/6.

Essential Skills

Essential Skills

Good careers provision includes building students' essential employability skills. These are the skills that you need for almost any job and they make learning easier too. Students will probably already be using these skills in your lessons, but are they able to talk about them confidently?

The Skills Builder Universal Framework was developed by CEC, Skills Builder, Gatsby Foundation and others to provide a common language for these 8 essential skills. It breaks down each skill into 16 teachable steps.

In English, students are likely to use these 3 essential skills:

The ability to set clear, tangible goals and devise a robust route to achieving them
